Statement on Conduct

The 2024 IMS NRC conference committee and organizers are dedicated to providing a space and program for attendees and speakers to engage in the open exchange of ideas, the freedom of thought and expression, and respectful scientific debate. We value the participation of every member of the conference and want all who attend to have an enjoyable and rewarding experience. We ask that participants extend respect, courtesy, and compassion to other attendees, regardless of whether or not opinions differ.

Every attendee, speaker, exhibitor, organizer, and volunteer at any event or activity connected with NRC is expected to abide by this Code of Conduct:

"The 2024 Institute for Mathematical Statistics New Researchers Conference provides a harassment-free conference experience for everyone, regardless of gender, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, or religion. We do not tolerate harassment of conference participants in any form. All communication will remain appropriate for a professional audience of any background. We do not permit the following behaviors at any time during the conference, in any conference venue and conference communication channels, including conference housing and social media: using sexual language or imagery; insulting, maligning, or harassing other attendees; or telling sexist, racist, or exclusionary jokes."

Conference staff will enforce this Code throughout the event and may ask anyone violating this Code to leave the conference. Please contact Yuan Jiang (yuan.jiang@oregonstate.edu) or Taeb Armeen (ataeb@uw.edu) to report any issues.

Thank you for helping make the NRC a positive, inclusive, and appropriate experience for all who attend.
